Subject: Re: Source for Altec 902 diaphragms?
Posted by Russellc on Sat, 28 Aug 2004 20:39:58 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I may be mistaken, (I have both drivers but have not opened them up recently) but I don't think the "kit" is required for the 902 series.The older 802 diapram/voice coil unit had different hookups for the incoming wires. The great plaines diapram should fit right in, but if installing in an older 802, the kit is required to convert to the more recent hookup style. Call Bill at great plains to make sure, Again, it has been a while, but I had to purchase one of those kits before for an 802. Hopefully I haven't confused further, Russellc