I'm planning to build a set of computer speakers and I'm posting here because, well, I'm looking for a full range driver for the project. The current short list is the Tangband W3-871S because it's small, requires a small cab, cheap, moderately full range, and moderately sensitive. I've also considered the Fostex Fe87E, but they're almost twice the price of the Tangbands.Any other suggestions for a small fullrange driver?BTW, can someone point me to link for the "snake speakers" made of PVC pipes that was posted here. Having a very hard time finding it.thanks,gar.
