
Subject: Question on mid-horns

Posted by hurdy_gurdyman on Tue, 16 Dec 2003 03:20:13 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

When listening to my Heresy 1's, I sometimes hear what I can best describe as a "break-up" on some complex music and pushed vocals. This is in the mid-horns mid to upper range. I haven't been able to determine if this is the horn, the recordings, or something else. Any thoughts on this? Is this typical of horns? Perhaps I need better equipment up front? I'm using a nice running Scott LK-48-B integrated tube amp from 1964 to power them. It's not a big problem most times, but sometimes it's irritating. Dave :^/
