Colin, I'm too much a small fry to put on large gatherings. My house is small and would not handle a crowd. But a good group for my house is around 4 people. I don't plan special events, just quaint little get-togethers, so if you are interested in coming to visit, drop me a line(e-mail through this forum will work) and we always have a few locals who drop in from time to time.I still have various odd cabinets to give away to save space so I can set up my basement for my system.drop me a line.....Ron
