How about an AudioRoundTable group build room at the Lone Star Audio Fest? I don't sell anything, but for the past fests I have reserved a suite, brought a system, and hosted a DIY party where other non-commercial friends brought components they wanted to exhibit. For the 2007 fest there will be several suites like this.I was wondering if anybody else who plans to come to the fest has built an ART group build project. We could exhibit all the ART group build projects and call our room the AudioRoundTable Group Build room. Anybody interested?
