Subject: baffle step
Posted by Adam on Sun, 04 Aug 2002 17:25:40 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

As long as you keep them as close to a wall as you possibly can, this won't be an issue.I personally think baffle step compensation is unnecessary and shouldn't be hardwired into any speakers unless you know thye will always be run in half space.Keep them close to a wall and the effect should be negligable. None of Wayne's designs use a baffle step compensation circuit.Adam