I have always thought of myself as a conservative. Anti big government, anti deficit spending, pro education, pro individual rights, pro freedom of religion, pro constitution (including the first amendment). When did it start that the only party subscribing to these values was the Libertarians? I strongly object to these neo-nazis who call themselves "conservatives." When did the Republican Party go sour?How do Christians justify an offensive war on a country based on WMD, when there were none? How do Christians justify an offensive war on a country based on "terrorism," when there were no terrorists in that country? (There ARE NOW!!) How could Christians be so anti-Christ? Does giving lip service to anti-abortion justify their support for a war monger?
