I don't know what your budget is but I would go for a used integrated amp from audiogon.com, maybe a creek or a jolida or rega. You should be able to search by price see whats in your range and then research. If you have any questions about brands get back on here and ask or ask on audiogon. just make sure you buy from someone with lots of good feedback. I feel for you todays recievers are junk and multi channel. Good luck!
