We've got some bad weather headed our way. It's already started in the overnight hours with rain that's freezing to ice as soon as it hits the ground, but it's expected to get worse over the next few days. On the news, they're saying we should "expect" widespread power outages that could last a while.

What's the best way to handle a power outage like this?

What's should I do to protect my electronics from power surges if/when the power goes out?

What's the best way to stay warm when you have no electricity?
