Hi Everyone,  The long in process is nearing reality.  This has been a labor of love going back nearly 7 years and countless variations.  But now (drum roll please) I have seen the fully populated circuit boards and they are awesome.  Cases are in the mill and then comes the fun part....do they sound like the prototypes?  I sure hope so as they have been on the costly side to develop and produce.  I currently use two of the prototypes and will never go back to any others I have heard.  (I'm told that I am not modest enough as well  8o ).  I had hoped for some by Christmas, but that will not give me enough time to test and evaluate them.  Stay tuned,
