I got to see some of the Longmire series. I liked it too. Surprised to find out the sheriff lead character is an Aussie. Me managed to get the American big sky country dialect down to a T. Also in the crime genre, a BBC production carried by PBS called Endeavor. Set in Britain in the 60's, young constable Morris has brilliant deductive skills. Kind of like another famous British sleuth. This show is a prequel to an earlier production that showcased Inspector Morris when he had ripened into a crusty older lawman.
