Subject: NWO,occult
Posted by Mike.e on Mon, 26 Jul 2004 05:07:22 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Interesting stuff.New World order,illuminati,masons,and other fun stuff! :-SIs this reality? or is it extremism? http://www.infowars.com/index.htmlYou can't turn on your television or visit any world capitol without being confronted by the occult symbolism of the global elite. Here is Time Warner's logo -- the all-seeing eye The all-seeing eye is the elite's favorite symbol. It represents the eye of Lucifer seeing all and is usually atop a pyramid, the symbol for a top-down command and control system of compartmentalization....
infowars

Subject: Re: NWO,occult
Posted by Wayne Parham on Mon, 26 Jul 2004 06:17:22 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I love discussions about stuff like this, at least when they are genuinely investigative and not sensationalized. Of course, the very nature of topics like these tends to somehow encourage embellishment and exaggeration, sort of like an overactive imagination thing. But I do love research and real historical references to matters like these: the Dead Sea Scrolls, The Nag Hammadi texts, The Knights Templar, Illuminati and other secret societies, The Holy Grail, and so on. There is a lot of interesting stories surrounding each of them, and sometimes you gotta think, "where there's smoke, there's fire." Other times, you find people getting so far out that you get sick of it and forget about it.

Subject: Re: NWO,occult
Posted by Manualblock on Mon, 26 Jul 2004 19:47:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Joseph Campbell the famous philosopher explains the origins of all those symbols in many of his books. If you have a good public library in town they should have a copy of Bill Moyers interviewing him on P.B.S. The interviews are not only amazingly thorough and scholastically rigorous but he is extremely entertaining as well. I believe he held the chairmanship of the philosophy dept. at Vasser. I know the Masonic Temple is the origin of all that stuff on the dollar. He goes on for quite some time with that explanation. Most of our past presidents were at least 5th degree masons.

Subject: Re: NWO,occult
Posted by Mike.e on Tue, 27 Jul 2004 04:14:26 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Of course, the very nature of topics like these tends to somehow encourage embellishment and exaggeration, sort of like an overactive imagination thingi know thats the problem,its hard to sort the wheat from the chaff!I would tend to find books more credible than some random person on the internetwe wont find out til humankind starts really falling apart,if these things are true or not! ;-)oh well im off home now,to home,to eat,watch tv, sleep and forget the worlds troubles! hehe

Subject: Re: NWO,occult
Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 27 Jul 2004 09:07:49 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That's always been interesting to me. It's interesting to know the history of the Masons, and their influence in the early days of this country. Also of interest are the other secret societies like the Trilateral commision, Skull and Bones and the Bilderburgers. I always watch specials on the History channel that are on this subject. I know that's sort of a watered down version, and more entertainment than learning, but I like it nonetheless.
Anti-Masonry FAQ

Subject: Re: NWO,occult
Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 27 Jul 2004 09:30:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Probably the most bizzarre occult influences on government that I know of were alleged of Nazi Germany. If you look around, you'll see plenty of controversy there, just like there is surrounding governments that are still around today. One could argue that Nazi Germany doesn't exist anymore, and that makes wild stories of it tempting for those that opposed its ideology. Then again, there are those that maitain the holocaust didn't happen, even if you dig up Babi Yar and show them the remains. So if you ask me, a simple look at the facts of history is enough to confirm that probably a lot of what is alleged fits the facts, and is probably true. It's just hard to believe, that's all.
Nazi Germany and the Occult