This is a pretty cool thing that's happening. Sophie's Place is an organization that operates under the umbrella of the Forever Young Foundation. Spearheaded by former NFL quarterback and Football Hall Of Fame member Steve Young and his wife, Sophie's Place brings music therapy to the young patients in children's hospitals around the country.

Music as a form of therapy has been known to work for the younger members of our society, so to see this happening on a large scale.....it does my heart good to see this happening.

I'm not pitching this or anything, I just thought I would bring this to everyone's attention.
