We're going through quite the cold snap where I live right now. I went out to the car around 4 this morning and the front drivers side door was so iced shut that it felt like it was glued shut. One other door opened just fine, but I've never had a car door feel that stuck because of being iced over.

BRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRR!!!!!

We had snow this AM (southern Arizona). True we are at 4500 feet elevation, still absolutely unnecessary
