The local vintage sound dealer came by Sunday afternoon to pick up some old speakers I was giving away, and he commented "you must not be a sports fan". Turns out some game was on TV and I wasn't watching it. I hate sports. He then commented "most audiophiles aren't sports fans".Is there any truth to that? Are there any other audiphiles out there who aren't sports fans? If you are male there's an overwhelming probability you are a sports fan, so for this one please respond only if you are NOT a sports fan.
