Subject: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by WorkingWoman2017 on Sun, 23 Jul 2017 22:37:44 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have learned to play many instruments, including, clarinet, bass clarinet, sax, flute and piano. If you asked me what was the easiest for me to learn I think it was the flute. I learned this instrument second after the clarinet and my abilities with that were a big boost to learning the flute. What about you?

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by Red2017 on Sun, 23 Jul 2017 22:47:40 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm not very musical personally but I do know how to play the Kazu. My tones may not be best but I really love doing it. It is also a great thing to start out a child on. They really like doing it.

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by Bert on Mon, 24 Jul 2017 00:21:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have also played many instruments and enjoyed most of them, though a lot of them were hard to play. However, the easiest one for me to learn was probably the recorder.

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by Bert on Mon, 24 Jul 2017 00:22:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have also played many instruments and enjoyed most of them, though a lot of them were hard to play. However, the easiest one for me to learn was probably the recorder.

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by Acacia on Mon, 02 May 2022 17:53:49 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Learning how to play the recorder is the easiest because I remember I was in elementary when I had to learn it. It's funny cause I only recently learned that it is different from a flute.

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by Beck on Fri, 13 May 2022 16:54:19 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The piano is probably the easiest to learn for me because all you have to do is know the notes. It's not that difficult compared to other instruments since it's similar to playing the keyboard. Like all others, it's also easy to forget when you don't play regularly.

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by Dropuc on Tue, 05 Jul 2022 13:31:18 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have tried quite a number like the piano and the drum, but I discovered to learn fast, the portability of an instrument comes into play to make it an easy one. Thus, the flute, the guitar, and mostly the Tamborine are the easiest for me.

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by Dropuc on Thu, 07 Jul 2022 12:26:12 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have tried quite a number like the piano and the drum, but I discovered to learn fast, the portability of an instrument comes into play to make it an easy one. Thus, the flute, the guitar, and mostly the tamborine are the easiest for me.

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by billy37 on Thu, 14 Jul 2022 15:24:28 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Can you give me some piece of advice? I want to learn to play the keyboard. I have this mini one. I'm wondering if there's any good software that can teach you via midi and games etc. I remember when I learned to touch type, I used some software which was very good at teaching you with games and tests. is there anything like this for learning to play the keyboard? it doesn't need to have games or anything but it must be something that tells you what to play and then recognizes your midi input and gives you feedback. something along those lines.

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by tedslist on Thu, 21 Jul 2022 08:03:41 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi there. If it helps, we have three articles that are specifically about choosing the easiest instrument; all written by world-class professional musicians.

If you're looking for a string instrument, you could visit:

https://teds-list.com/tutorial/easiest-string-instrument-to-learn/

If you're looking to play a wind instrument, take a look at:
https://teds-list.com/tutorial/easiest-wind-instrument-to-learn/

Finally, if you're wanting to play a brass instrument, take a look here.

Or if you still do not know what instrument to learn, we have a great article called 10 Tips To Quickly Figure Out What Instrument You Should Be Playinghttps://teds-list.com/tutorial/10-tips-to-quickly-figure-out-what-instrument-you-should-be-playing/ that you should like.

I do hope this is helpful, and we have a great comments section where you can ask any question and a pro musician will answer.

Good luck!

Robert Emery
Founder of Ted's Listhttps://teds-list.com/tutorial/how-to-choose-the-right-brass-instrument/

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by Becky on Fri, 10 Oct 2025 20:00:58 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

It was a piano. I learnt in in high school because music class was one of my favourite class that I never missed. Piano or keyboard was also my favourite instrument and it became easy because I've already have the passion to master it.

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by Helen on Thu, 23 Oct 2025 06:59:19 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I don't think that there's any instrument that is easy to learn. Starting from the easiest to the hard ones, one need to put effort in any of them. I wanted to learn how to play drums, I really did try but it was a futile effort for me. I think I will check another instrument like piano or violin.

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by Prince on Fri, 24 Oct 2025 02:17:51 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Becky wrote on Fri, 10 October 2025 15:00It was a piano. I learnt in high school because music class was one of my favourite classes that I never missed. Piano or keyboard was also my favourite instrument and it became easy because I already had the passion to master it.

I learnt how to beat the drums from a music academy. My brother is a guitarist and asked me to always follow him when he went to practice in 2020. That was the year that I took an interest in learning how to beat the drum. Since then, I have become very good when it comes to playing it which makes me happy.

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by Becky on Fri, 28 Nov 2025 20:36:07 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Prince wrote on Thu, 23 October 2025 21:17Becky wrote on Fri, 10 October 2025 15:00It was a piano. I learnt in high school because music class was one of my favourite classes that I never missed. Piano or keyboard was also my favourite instrument and it became easy because I already had the passion to master it.
I learnt how to beat the drums from a music academy. My brother is a guitarist and asked me to always follow him when he went to practice in 2020. That was the year that I took an interest in learning how to beat the drum. Since then, I have become very good when it comes to playing it which makes me happy.
I love how your brother being a guitarist ended up inspiring you without even planning it. And the spark you have as someone that's ready for a new skill shows that you really wanted it too. I remembered how And 2020 was, it affected many people but it sounds like you turned it into something really meaningful.

Learning drums isn’t easy at all so the fact that you stuck with it and actually got something good to be proud of is the more reason that you need to be happy. I love drumming but I can't play one for myself.

Subject: Re: What was the easiest instrument for you to learn?
Posted by George on Sat, 14 Mar 2026 17:37:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I started playing drums while I was little. I've got a cousin who plays guitar for the church choir, so that was how I got interested in beating the drums because I always followed him to the choir practice. By the time that I was older, I was an expert in doing so , and I even became popular in the church because of that.