Subject: Best headphones?
Posted by Leonardo on Thu, 26 Oct 2017 00:06:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

What are the best noise-cancelling headphones that will sync up to my system? I'm willing to spend a decent amount of money for great quality, but obviously, if there's an option that's budget-friendly and high-quality that would be great.

Subject: Re: Best headphones?
Posted by Lost the Remote on Sat, 28 Oct 2017 00:02:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have a set from Monoprice that I like. They aren't as nice as Bose, but for less than $90 they aren't as expensive as Bose either. Check out the Monoprice brand on Amazon and see what you think. If you can wait until Black Friday you might find a better deal on this brand and others.

Subject: Re: Best headphones?
Posted by Leonardo on Mon, 30 Oct 2017 01:46:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That is an excellent price. Bose headphones look great but I just can't stomach the price, especially when I knew there had to be cheaper alternatives out there. Thank you for the suggestion. I will check those out. You're right, I almost forgot about those days coming up. Perhaps I will wait around and see what kind of deals are out there. Thanks again. Love your username by the way.

Subject: Re: Best headphones?
Posted by Mandy on Mon, 13 Nov 2017 22:14:52 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I use the Bose headphones, they're absolutely great and I use them all the time when I work out, and when you use them it's like you're in your own world because it gets so quiet. The quality of the sound is great as well, the only problem would be the price as stated above, but in my opinion it's a good investment.