I've recently started listening to some recording-related podcasts. I thought I'd share them with you all in case you haven't heard of them. I'd love to hear about other podcasts, so let me know if you think any should be added to my list!

Simply Recording (hasn't been updated since June 2, 2017) - Has episodes like "The Case for Stock Plugins" and "A Template Approach to Mixing."

The Podcast Engineering Show (Current) - This is all about podcasting. It talks about things like equipment, software, and has a lot of interviews.

Recording Lounge - (Current) - Episode titles like "Commonly Confused Audio Terms" and "Let's Mix and Master a Song."
