I forgot where I read it, but there was some talk before the long weekend of a meet in Cinni or Dayton this summer. Any development?

I would like to get together with others in the area. I had planned on having a few people over after the fourth, but I just have not had the time to plan. I know Zincman, Spkrman57 and Bill E. are in the area and could meet on short notice. Garman, where are you located? Congrats on the new saw. Sounds like you got a winner.....Colin

I'm up in Toronto. Too far to travel but interested in developments. Although my wife said there's a couple of scrapebooking stores in Cincinnati she won't mind travelling for.I have to take the passenger seat out of my car tonight to pick up the saw tomorrow. My little Subaru two door has not been a practical car for a homeowner but I refuse to give it up. I'm planning on building a 8x12 garden shed this weekend so I might get a chance to rip some plywood.

I know I replied to this message a day or so ago. I wonder why it's not showing up. Anyway.....Yeah, I just have not had the time or energy to put together a small gathering. I was hopeing after the Fourth of July, but it just ain't happened. Cinci would be a long way to travel for a scrapbooking store, but, I'll tell you, there are a ton of them around. I have no idea what it is about this area, but that is one hot market. There is at least one scrapbooking party a week in my subdivision. If your wife needs me to pick up anything specific, let me know.Glad to hear you got your saw. I've been looking for a couple of years now and just cannot make up my mind. I really had my heart set on a Jet (http://www.amazon.com/exec/obidos/tg/detail/-/B00006WP0Z/qid=1121476113/sr=1-5/ref=sr_1_5/103-3709346-3860637?v=glance&s=hi) but lately I'm kinda looking at the Grizzly line (http://www.amazon.com/exec/obidos/tg/detail/-/B0000E3HNN/qid=1121476206/sr=1-4/ref=sr_1_4/103-3709346-3860637?v=glance&s=hi) I'd like to know how the Craftsman works out and if you have any opinions on the two aforementioned ones.....Colin
