Those in and around Columbus, how about a get together this Saturday? That way I can show off the OB speakers and the new 45 amp. Maybe Bill will bring his, too?

How's the weather in Columbus? You guys getting hit with snow? Chicago is supposed to get a foot this afternoon and evening, and Tulsa is supposed to get 3-5 inches. Even the Texans are getting nailed with this weather.

I'll be there Satruday.Steve has some really nice amps and preamps. His build quality and attention to detail in his wiring and layout are very professionial.I will bring some Pi midhorns to Steve's house for him to play with also.As a BR and horn fan I will be looking forward to hearing the OB style of speaker system.Ron Sorry to derail the subject."Even the Texans are getting nailed with this weather."Hey now! We got more than 3 times the amount of snow we received last year in one night!! A whole 7" according to the airport.I hear Tulsa is in for a foot tonight?

That's what I heard too. I didn't make it back to Tulsa - all flights were cancelled. It's weird because Chicago streets are perfectly clear. They got a lot of snow but by afternoon the roads were clear. I guess everything got backed up in the morning and it is taking them the whole day to get back on track.
