I swear allergy season is back in full swing. I can't stop itching my eyes today! One minute my nose is stuffed and the next its runny! Anyone else being bothered right now?

Hi, More likely - anyone not being bothered. Allergies have been in full swing for nearly a month here. Itch, sneeze, scratch, feel miserable.

I'm the same way - Itch, sniff, blow, Itch, Rub, etc. It's been bad here for over a month too but this past week has been terrible. I'm taking 2 - 24 hour pills each day.

I agree it's been a terrible year so far. I think it has a lot to do with the bipolar weather we have been having. Hot then cold, stuff flying in the air. I see pollen everywhere, looks like snow.

Hi, I love the new term (at least to me) "bi-polar" weather. It is what we have here. It snowed on the first day of Spring (in Arizona), Last week there was one day with a high of 57, today it was 93. Tucson went past 100 today, the second earliest on record. Wind and blowing dust are becoming more common as well.
