Several years back the JBL 2226 woofers ran about $500 each. After the pandemic they were closer to $600.

Just looked them up on Parts Express and they were under $400 for the 2226h. Not sure why they got cheaper but it's a really good deal. And they show they have them in stock.

Aren't they made in Brazil now? Selenium? Better load up on em before the tariffs take hold. That ought to bring back manufacturing to the good old US of A.

So awesome to see a price drop! That's so rare these days!
