All the reviews of the Heart Stoetkit Junior made me realize that my own website is pretty lean in please.I can think of dozens of examples of reviews made here on the forum that could be copied did it than if I did. So if you have already posted comments here about your speakers at one time section. If you need help finding a review you already made here, or if you can't find the reviews section on the shopping cart or don't know how to make a review there, please write to me and I'll last year. I'll send a pair of pins to any of you that make a review.

How can we turn down an offer like that. See further thoughts in the review section. I have now spent almost 9 months of dedicated listening of the Pi 4's on many types of equipment, even spent time with them in my home theatre rig.
