Hello Wayne,

I would be very glad to have the plans for the 4pi speakers, for the box and the crossover, since I have the drivers (2226h and DE250) from another diy project.

It's been years since I have red some of your projects, but now will be the time to make it my self!

Best regards from France.

Mr Wayne, I sure would like to see the print for the 4Pi. Would you kindly send me a set? I think the 4Pi speaker is the one for me. Thank you, Rbraxton

Hi Wayne, hoping I could get a set of the 4 pi plans! If the 8 pi plans are available as well I'd be interested in those too. Thanks

Please decide which you prefer and I'll send plans.

The four Pi model is top-of-the-line, but is obviously more expensive. When fully upgraded, the speaker is best-of-class.

The eight Pi model is less expensive, but is really cool looking and great sounding too.

4 pi then, was hoping to see the complexity of the 8 cabinet build to consider it but 4 seems like the right choice for me

Almost there. Sprayed some dark grey on the insets and the backs today. Tomorrow we'll seal the very bottom mdf with the poly. And screw some rubber feet on them. Then pop them drivers in. I'm working on the grills at my house. Trouble is, my friends living room is a construction zone. He's doing some drywall and spackling, then painting. So the big reveal will have to be on hold a little longer. No worries. Just be glad to get them in a finished state.
