HUNTERS, campers, anglers, and other outdoor types may possess closets full of expensive equipment, but there is one item they're all likely to lack. That is a means of communication when in the field. Unless a sportsman is also a ham or a Citizens Band licensee, he is cut off from the world when his hunting party splits or his fishing party spreads out. Whether he wants to tell his companions, "Hey come on over; they're biting here," or wants to summon help, he has no way to transmit his message.

El's Terraquaphone answers this need for communications in the field. It also has other applications as an emergency signaling device, and hobbyists will find it an interesting experimental apparatus.
