

---

Subject: Re: Class A SS amp in Audio eXpress
Posted by lon on Fri, 21 Apr 2006 17:22:23 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I've been watching the BIB (Bigger is Better) project developments at the full range driver sites. Terry Cain put up a design at Full Range Driver Forum from some Japanese manuals quite a while back. Now there is renewed interest in this folded pipe that rear fires out the top instead of the bottom. Corner loading is all-important in this build. Other thing is a unique PVC application that I posted in single driver forum here on building a Nautilus style t-line. See subject line: "I wish I would have thought of this."

---