I prefer my asusa amp, which has a little feedback. This is becuae the feedback gives it more slam, and the upgraded parts give it frgreater transparency. One thing you cna try is to see if someone will modify your amp to remove feedback, and upgrade the parts as well. You might be able to do that for less than the price of the zen, and end up without having to change your speakers. THat, said, i think having more sensitive speakers is better anyway! -akhilesh
