Hi all, My first post here. I've been a lurker on the Pi forum and this forum for some time. First, I've learned a lot from your posts and just wanted to say thanks. I don't post because, quite frankly, most of you have more equipment knowledge (from a technical standpoint) in your little finger than I do in my entire body. But, sometimes I see things that look like a good deal. I just saw this post for an Almarro amp. I have always heard very good things about these amps, and the price seems right, so thought I would share. Nice looking woodwork also. Just found while browsing the forum. I have no relationship to the seller or know who he is. I hope this is helpful.
