

---

Subject: Re: 1st Scratch Build Done.

Posted by Shane on Mon, 09 Mar 2009 06:05:48 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Thanks Norbert. I tried adding a 0.1uF/1000V disk cap across the switch and ended up getting voltage on the amp. I tried two separate switches and two separate caps and every combo gave me this. So I have just been turning the amp off when playing and that seems to take care of it. With the bleeder I have it drops the volume to nil in about 5 seconds and no popping.

---