That Blaze Audio product looks interesting. Bundling recording software for archiving vinyl to disc is a nice touch. About the audioXpress phono preamp project, who is the designer of the amp? Who is authoring the project? I'll run out and purchase a copy of the magazine, and probably should subscribe. But for the purpose of discussion here, I'd like to know. Are you planning to build the phono preamp from the audioXpress plans? If so, I'd love to see a write-up here. It's really great to see pics of the build-up too! I may do that with the Seduction phono stage, but I think it is already a very popular product. To write about my experience with it may be sort of redundant.
