Subject: best moving magnet
Posted by Manualblock on Wed, 25 Aug 2004 13:38:36 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello All; I see that the Ortofon line is on sale on one of the TT sites. I happen to think the 540II is one of the best sounding MM's, rivaling lots of the MC's for smooth and liquid. It's selling for about 200$. Point of Interest.J.R.(Very good tracker and works in high mass arms.)Unless of course you have the funds for those Audionote IQ's. Then it's a no brainer.I still say this DJ cart. from Stanton I bought for 30$ is pretty darn good. All things considered. If you have those old rock records with skips and you don't want to tear your 750$ MC stylus out by the root over some gouge in the groove. Works great in the Technics. I play lots of old Who stuff without fear, the bass is "thundering".(Resolves as good as some of those Audiophile Approved wimpy cart.)(Thats right, you know who I mean!)