

---

Subject: Tone arm lift pad

Posted by Russellc on Sun, 02 Jan 2005 22:39:16 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Anyone know where I could obtain a little strip of that stick on foam rubber stuff that goes on top of the tone arm lift, (on some models anyway), mine is so old and dried up it doesn't have any "sickem" left and anti skate will pull it off just before touch down! Its too dried out for lighter fluid to be of any use in softening it, and in fact eroded it some right at the end, giving a nice downhill effect just before the anti skate tries to pull it off the edge of the album. I don'tmind a little extra trouble for vinyl, but krickey! Any help at obtaining a new strip of foam would be greatly appreciated.

Russellc

---