Naah! Those stories have a way of disapearing when closely examined. Like the guy who finds the Renoir under a painting of dogs playing cards at a flea-market. If that were true we would have diving equipment on already. We should have stocked up when people were giving 288's away and 1505's and A-7 cabs. Jesus; I remember people tearing out the woofers and using the box for shelves. Just gotta let the past be the past.
