It was in the early 90s when I had a good listen to a full on Merrill modded AR, and was very impressed, was not expecting it either quite a surprise. In the later 90's a friend of mine replaced his AR with a Linn. I purchased his AR. Have listened extensively to his Linn a swell, he had a few of the extras Linn offers, but I can't remember which ones, I'd have to go ask him. I will have, including the original cost of the table, about 1100 in this after I add the power supply and motor. Right now, between 800-900 or so. By the time I'm done, maybe 1100 or so. Dirt cheap compared to what my friend plans on spending for Linns mods. Crikey, you could buy a decent used car! Vinyle people are obsessed to be sure. By the way, I've been looking at Costa Rican destinations again, thinking of renting a house in Tamarindo (spelling?), but not until november.Regards, Russellc
