The local Hi-Fi emporium had a Linn rep there for the day by invitation so I went. The new top of the line Linn was offered. Only thing is they used all Linn components so I could not do a real listen. But man; 7000$? It did resolve piano unlike any thing I have heard recently. The keyboard had a very deep, by that I mean it actually seemed to be the length of a grand piano, sound. I asked when they were going to tube electronics and the guy turned white. They use a lot of op-amp based circuits. I wanted to audition their cartridge the "Adikt" but they only had the MC.
