
Subject: I'm gonna buy American SL1200-MK2
Posted by Chen on Sat, 25 Mar 2006 07:59:54 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

And I've got a simple question, I live in Israel, and our electricity works by 220v 50Hz. My dad told me that the turntables aren't gonna spin very accurately cause the American electricity is 110v 60Hz, and every electricity product with a motor is relying on Hz or something. Even though I can change the 220v to 110v, the Hz is unswitchable. Can someone tell me if it's true or not? And if it is, there's absolutely nothing that I can do about it? Thanks in advance, Chen.
