I bought a quart of RRL Super Vinyl Wash from Music Direct, a 1 HP Shop Vac from Wal-mart, a paint pad refill from Home Depot and a dead Sony turntable from Goodwill. Total investment $54. I've cleaned over 100 records, most with 2 applications and still have 3/4 of the RRL fluid left. Does a great job. It appears from reading posts that those of us that grew up with vinyl (and Black and White TV) are far less bothered by surface noise than those that grew up with CD's.
