I believe you gave me a couple of places that sell refurbished tables to look at. I'm really just beginning to think seriously about getting a vinyl rig. I've heard a couple now and was impressed compared to some CD systems. These were of course more expensive tables, but to get into it I don't believe I should spend a lot of money until I get used to setting up a table, caring for albums, dealing with using vinyl in general. Sounds like I have a lot of options in the Technics line!
