Subject: Technics SP-10 Mk3 Question - help please !
Posted by wireknot on Sat, 05 Aug 2006 20:06:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello there,I spotted Technics SP-10Mk3 in my local used Audio equipment place.This guys do professional Audio-video installations and they do from time to timecontract job to up-date local radio station gear. So they got this SP -10 Mk3 TTfrom a radio station. It's just the deck, no base (plinth ?) no tone arm and very unfortunately no power supply for the TT. The people from the radio station are 100% positive that this TT worked finewith out any problems however no one knows where is the power supply.My question is: What are my chances finding the power supply for this TT ?Have anyone ever see one on e-bay for sale ?Is there any place that deals with parts for vintage TT specially Technics ?I did business with this guys before and I find them be very fair doing businessthey're holding the Mk3 for me right now and it's my turn to make offer.What would be fair offer for this TT ? How much would be to much ?Thanks