Wayne has a very open mind and is very supportive regarding how the participants on the forum's choose to become involved. In my experience on ART some people feel there is meritt in the cable discussion and some just feel they don't hear much difference. I can only speak for myself in that I hear differences and do favor certain types and brands; I don't neccessarily think it makes things better to a great degree, just different and that depends mostly on matching equipment.One mans opinion.But Ideas are money in the bank so please feel free to share; it will be appreciated.
