Subject: Fried my SL1200
Posted by Dj_Quirk on Wed, 31 Dec 2008 19:47:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I am in germany and I have a US version (110V) SL1200. I was changing my setup around and accidently plugged it into a 220V socket. It blew after about 2 seconds. I opened it up and the model I have has no fuses that I can find, at least not the little glass vial kind. I assume I burnt the power transformer. I just ordered a new one. I am going to replace it and see what happens. Does anyone out there have any experience with this situation or any advice they can offer before attempt this. Thanks