Hi my friends it's nice to meet you!! I wonder if someone has both these decks. I have V-8030s I bought it new in 1999. In fact my favourite brand wasn't TEAC ..it was AIWA but in 1999 you couldn't find a brand new AIWA in stores like Excelsa 9000 or 7000. So I decided to go on TEAC 8030, it's a nice deck with heavy built and excellent acoustic but there is something very disappointing about the accuracy of the counter. If you set a point it's very difficult for the deck to reach it 100%. Of course in the display it may say that the point is reached, but in reality the tape is not in the marked point. Does 8000 do this? I just want to know if this is an original manufacturer malfunction Or is because the 8030 is made in Taiwan instead of 8000 that is made in Japan! Thank you.
