Let us know how you like it when you are able to listen to it. I'm curious.I have a Pioneer RT-909, which I bought new in the early 1980's and have had ever since. I always liked it, but without Dolby, you can hear a touch of tape hiss. I have always thought about adding an external Dolby encoder/decoder, but never did. It sounds excellent, and only at the dead quiet passages can you hear tape hiss, and only a slight touch.
