Have you checked into Marchland products? I'll bet Martinelli might be able to swing a good deal. Might check the JBL tent sale too; They may have an MPC or something like that available. I've tended to stick with products made by JBL, Crown and Mackie for processors, parametric EQ's and things like that. Can't go wrong with them. I'll bet the same could be said of QSC, but I don't have experience with them like I do with the others.
