
Subject: CAL Icon CD player

Posted by Guy on Fri, 26 Sep 2008 16:01:46 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I've been out of active hi-fi service for several years and have not kept up with the latest advances in technology. I have a California Audio Labs Icon CD player (ca. 1990) that's sick - the drawer won't open so there's a problem with the transport system. Is it worth fixing (est. $150 - $200), or should I just buy a new player. If I should replace it, any suggestions what I should consider? Thanks!
