
Subject: Re: Audiophile Sub project
Posted by Mike.e on Wed, 19 May 2004 15:05:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

those jbl1500s wouldve been great for those who were considering tempetests and blueprint 15"s, but actually enjoy fidelity! also for Basshorn usage, handy extra xmax for that low frequency cutoff! I don't expect much bass from that woofer however with its real low Qts, but the intention is quality, so it certainly would be 'tight' This seems to be the latest trend in the diy circles, ultra damped sealed boxes.
