Subject: Re: And The Winner Is... Posted by FredT on Wed, 18 Jan 2006 10:30:32 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Two of my friends in the Houston Audio Society are also Harley owners. One was asking if I thought she should spend $1K for a new front wheel to replace the stock one, which looked pretty good to me. It appears a Harley is like an audio system - a bottomless pit into which you throw lots of money to realize incremental improvements. Does a throttle cable upgrade improve the ride? How about expensive little rubber pads between your feet and the pedals?

Page 1 of 1 ---- Generated from AudioRoundTable.com