Tonight I was fooling around and making my 337th change when I decided to use the Maggies as wings on the Valencias. I hooked the Maggies up to the M-50 amp and left the Vals on the MC-2505. Once I adjusted the sound levels with a meter things started sounding pretty good. Placement of the Maggies is critical and it took a while to get it close. I think with two people it would go a lot quicker. Hopefully I can con someone else into coming over and getting another opinion.
