Subject: Re: Need help with a center channel
Posted by Bob Brines on Sun, 17 Dec 2006 11:45:34 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That's one huge center channel by normal standards. Where are you going to put it? It sounds to me that this should be behind the screen of a front projection TV. Given all of the other things that can go wrong with center channels, you need to have the acoustic center of the speaker somewhere at least near the center of the screen. That's why the horizontal layout (let along SAF) of most commercial centers.Are you sure that phantom center is not working for you?