Good idea. If no one else reports back, please post the values you find when you upgrade yours. Shouldn't be too hard to pull the woofer and look. When looking at Dayton and Solen, also look at the Jantzen caps. They're about the same price for their Crosscap line, a little more for their Z caps. In my opinion, each of the them are comparable in sound quality, so you can pick with your wallet or taste test a few different ones and see which you like best.
